if it is bound to save the life of a wounded man, the proper course is to take him where he can receive surgical aid. Plasters, ointments, and such remedies will not reset a broken limb, or restore a mutilated member. Many of the patients are wise enough to know this fact, and to appreciate the benefits derived from European surgical skill. It is most probable that, if the injured Chinese are given their choice, the majority will elect to go where they can obtain these benchts, and escape the prospect in the Tung Wah Hospital of a lingering and painful death for want of surgical assistance. They should certainly be allowed the option. and there would be little fear of the altimate

The great " river in the ocean," known as the Gulf Stream, from the Gulf of Mexico to the Azores, is 3 000 miles in length; and its greatest breadth 120. At first its speed is four miles an hour; but this gradually declines as its becomes more diffused. In the Straits of Florida its temperature is 84 degs., or 9 degs, above the surrounding waters; and off Newfoundland, in winter, it is 25 degs. to 30 degs. warmer than the neighbouring seas, thus causing the dense fogs of that region. It is a great dispenser of heat and moisture in its course. To its influence l are owing the verdure of the "Emerald Isle," and the milduess of the climate of Western Europe compared with countries elsewhere of corresponding latitudes. It arrests the chilling Arctic icebergs, which melt away in its tepid Hongkong and Shanghar Bank Sharee-5 per waters. A London correspondent writes: -A curious story comes to me bearing the stamp of authenticity. On the day of the last State entertainment given by the Queen, Count Schouvsloff received from the Three Emperors a message directing him to obtain the assent of England to the little scheme which they had arranged between them with infinite trouble, but which was zever destined to be parried out. The Count who, by the way, is one/of the most wary diplomatists we have ever had at St. James's, met Mr. Disraeli at the royal entertainment, informed him of the nature of the message which he had reor yed, and added that he supposed be was at libe. I to telegraph the Prime Minister's assent to the proposal of the Three Powers. Mr. Disraeli's reply was both charming and touching : "Does your Excellency the us for Montenegrins ?" The ambassador, who, I may observe, seldom/fails in anything which be undertakes, from lack of confidence, felt himself unexpectedly cornered, and made no reply. My informant adds, "Schouvaloff was fearfully supbed, and the story is, I believe, quite true." Discussing our neyal defence. The Times says :- Take the obvious truth that our naval power would be vastly increased by "strengthening all existing steamships and tugs so as to make them capuble of carrying one or two heavy rifled guns." We are glad to know that the present Government have acknowledged the wisdom of this advice, and made experiments and preparations for carrying it out practically. Then we begin to think, "What is the strength of this fleet of steamships and tugs? What smount of help smuld they bring? The answer is that they are not to be numbered by hundreds, but by thousands, Without taking the trouble to calculate them all, and, indeed, the task would be no easy one, our readers may be interested to know that there were last year about 2,000 British registered steamers of more than 500 tons gross tonnage, and of these about 550 were of 1,500 tons and over, and about 100 over 8,000 tons. It is true that this magnificent fleet has not been built for war; but since any war undertaken by this country must be popular one, we are mistaken indeed if the whole resources of the nation would not be at the disposal of a bold and skilful Government in onse of need. A small proportion of the numbers we have given would be enough, seeing that no other Power was produce more than a wole-hill to our mountain. A writer in Frazer tells us something of a change that has come over the minds of Scotch people as to the ecclesiastical "innovations." He says :- It is strange to think, now that the battle is won, that a few years ago distinct peraccution was the lot of such as ventured to say they thought it would be well to stand at praise in church, and to kneel at prayer; also to have the organ where it was desired. I remember when a clergyman, now only in middleage, who was the first to suggest the changes of posture, was rudely told, in his Presbytery, that be had better be off to the Church of England if he wanted these things. Bullying did not avail. That young clergyman sinck to the Church of his fathers, and now holds all but the best living in it. Within the last ten years, I heard a truly good clergyman eay, on many occasions, that the proposal to kneel at prayer and stand at singing was suggested by the Devil.
